

Dear Campers...

Week number two ended with a bang! Intercamp trip (ice cream! - thanks Sim-kah) and championships. But what causes that special atmosphere that permeates Camp Eeshay? Is it a result of the nonstop action and programming? Is it Ezra's wallet? Or perhaps because we lovingly torturing our counselors with listerine and frozen T-shirts?

Perhaps.

But a greater contributing factor is that Eeshay is a place where every person matters. YOU matter.

Your success both in shiur and on the courts is what is important. Each and every Eeshay staff member and camper brings something unique to add to the Eeshay family, and he is recognized and appreciated for it.

As we look forward to next weeks new league teams and workshops, let's stay focused on the great opportunity that we have in camp- the opportunity to respect and appreciate another. Let us remember that a sincere "good morning" can affect someone significantly (Rabbi Heyman and his motorcycle talmid)

Let's continue to RISE!

*Have a wonderful restful Shabbos,
Rabbi Kramer*

This Week in Shiur

Who could have imagined that the learning in Eeshay every morning until 11:00 could be so successful and enjoyable.

When I speak to the Rebbeim after shiur they are full of praises for the boys. The boys are engaged in the give and take of the Sugyos in Meseches Berachos.

The incentives of cookies, doughnuts or soda definitely help, but they're there to learn no matter what. Many boys won a free item in the canteen and possibly two items this week, but the learning is primary. Raffles of new basketballs, batting gloves, and Eeshay hats help, but it's the geshmak of the Rebbeim doing what they do best which is keeping their interest. There's even a Masmidim track from 2:35-3:00 everyday in Mishnayos Pesachim which I have the pleasure of giving that several boys attend regularly.

Rabbi Shulman is teaching Hilchos Muktzah to his shiur after the short recess and had the boys yelling to try and answer how one removes shells from nuts after they've been eaten and are now Muktzah. Bonus question: who instituted the concept of Muktzah and why?

Have a wonderful Shabbos and looking forward towards seeing everyone at the early shiur at 9:30 Monday morning.

*Have a great Shabbos!,
Rabbi Fishberg*

From The Desk Of Ez the Prez

I have a new song. It is guaranteed to become the number one song in camp. During lunch activities, walkup music, pre-staff game hype, this will be the premier pump up song of Eeshay 2022. What is this song that is oh so epic? Here it is. 5 minutes of counselors gargling Listerine. The perfect melody. That is all the music hock I have. Nothing else happened this week that had anything to do with music. No frum-celebrity-singing-phenom-turned-basketball-star or anything like that. In completely unrelated news, Yossi Newman has a new recruit this summer. I think his name is Spiro. Yeah, Morton I. Spiro. I think that's his name. He's pretty good, but pretty good isn't going to be enough to stop the stars of the Eeshay team. Even if you're one in a million. #bigwin #YoDaMVP #RJK #thatsourrabbi #juuuuuuuudah #eeshaychop I don't just have a new song, by the way. I also have a new game. I want to bring this game to leagues. I want to play this in staff games. It's a brand new game called Kulam Ball. If you want to learn the rules, ask Chaim Groll. #eeshaychop2.0 #wheresyourbuilding #nojumping #wehaveicecream

Finally, I have a new picture. I want to plaster the walls of the gym with this picture. I want it on every GLOW. I want this picture on the home page of the brand new website. #plug @R'Kramer This picture is the pic of the century: Judah and Groman, the human hamsters. Imagine walking through the walls of Eeshay seeing marshmallow-stuffed faces of our dear counselors. You would become instantly inspired to... eat marshmallows, I guess. Hmmm. That sounded better in my head. Ezra's Wallet, Groman in the helmet, Coach Damski cooking, nail-biter championship game, Glass' first chip, out chanting all of them #hameivinyavin, mobbing Simcha Lazar at home plate, the heat is most definitely rising...
